

During 2nd International Scientific and Professional Meeting on Reptiles and Exotic Animals "REPTILIA" you can also visit "Reptilomanija+", an educational exhibition. It is a project organised by students of USVM "Equus", as an exhibition of live reptiles, amphibians, fish and insects. "Reptilomanija+" was created in 2013 by the students as a response to a growing interest in these creatures as pets, and their wish was to bring this world of exotic animals to a broader audience. Also the main point was, and still is, to provide an education platform about caring, keeping and feeding these animals and many more interesting and specific facts about these widely popular pets. It is also an opportunity for the students of veterinary medicine to learn more about treating these creatures. The entrance is free for all visitors. Above many informations you can find about this fascinating animals, you can also take pictures with some of the species.
